Client:-Triple A design - TAD

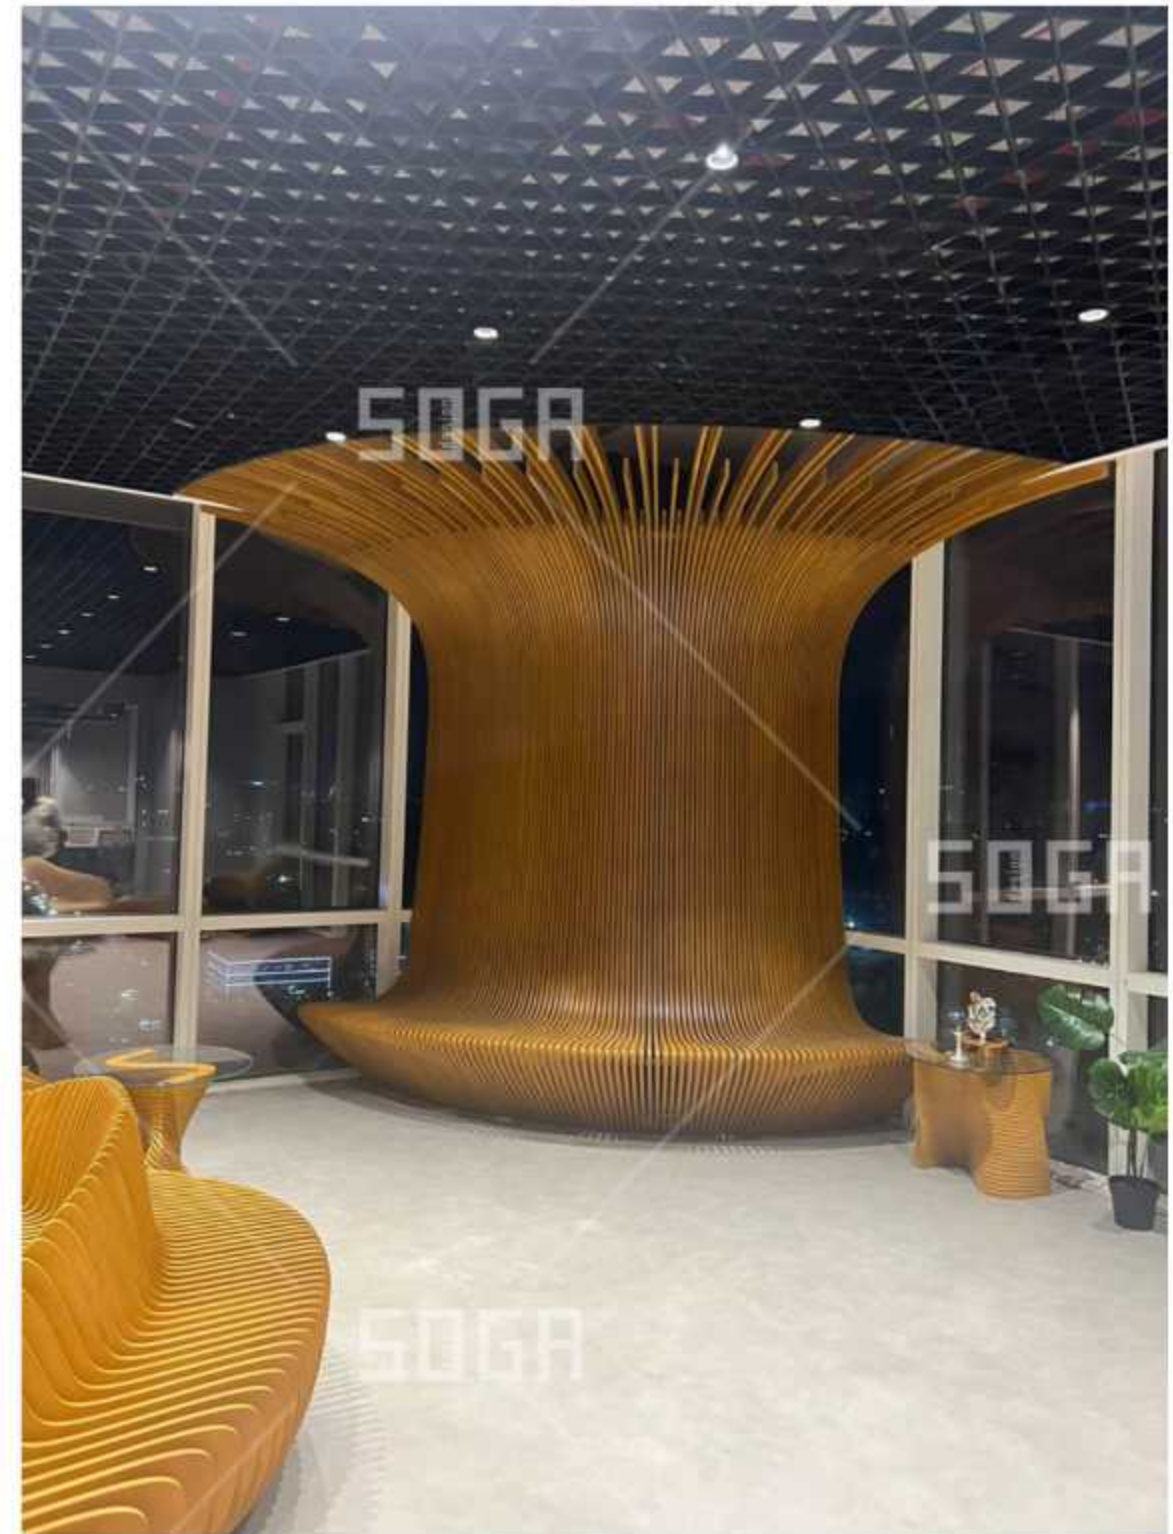

SOGA

The individual chairs are inspired by an international artist and tailored to meet Indian sitting standards.

The bench is crafted to imitate fluid and organic shapes using smooth and curvy lines, resulting in an almost uninterrupted flow from end to end.

The corner seating element is designed in a radial form, utilizing three different rafters without disrupting the harmony.

SOGA

The reception table, called CONCH, takes inspiration from the auspicious form of Shankh, representing the shape and form of shells found in nature. It creates a positive aura and a unique design style. Our team worked closely with the client's vision to create a luxurious and dynamic piece that captivates the viewer.
